

Calley Sentenced To Life Term

HEARINGS PLANNED . . .

Only A Few Get Private Pensions

Washington (AP) — Top-ranking members of the Senate Labor Committee said Wednesday Congress probably will remedy conditions disclosed in a study which showed large numbers of participants in private pension plans, particularly short-term employees, never receive any benefits.

The loss of benefits by large percentages of employees in 88 firms surveyed was blamed largely on a lack of vested interest for employees in the pension funds.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., said that the labor subcommittee, which he heads, will begin public hearings soon with a view to writing legislation which can be enacted in this Congress.

The preliminary figures are the first fruits of a $500,000 study by the labor subcommittee which the senators said should, when completed, give a good picture for the first time of the operations of private pension plans in the U.S.

2 Groups Covered

The report covered two groups of companies operating 87 plans.

In one group of 51 companies, were pension rights are guaranteed after 11 years service or more, 92% of the participants who left the firms in the last 20 years received no pensions.

In the other group of 36 firms, where vesting of 10 years or less was required, 73% of those who left in the last 20 years received no pensions.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said that he has introduced a bill which would assure many more workers that they would gain their pension rights.

Basis For Compromise?

This could form the basis for a compromise measure which he and Williams might jointly sponsor, Javits said. He added that he hoped the Nixon administration would give strong support to their efforts.

The 87 plans studied in the report covered 9.8 million workers or almost one-third of the 30 million now under private pension arrangements.

The assets of these plans totaled $16 billion. It is estimated that assets of all the 34,000 private pension plans in the country have reached $130 billion.

The senators said the principal reason for the low percentages of receipt of pensions appeared to be that most plans had no or only minimal vesting requirements.

No Rights to Carry

Thus a worker who changed jobs found in many instances that he had no rights to carry with him, they explained.

But Williams said there also were cases of persons working as much as 28 years with a company and then losing all pension rights because they were fired just before reaching the specified retirement age.

The Javits bill would require minimum vesting standards for all plans.

After six years, an employee would have an absolute right to at least 10% of the pension benefits earned up to that time. He would have an additional 10% vested each year after that, so that at 15 years he would be entitled to a full pension.

HANDICAPPED TWIN BROTHERS HONORED

Twin brothers Robert, left, and Richard Santin, both victims of hereditary muscular dystrophy, were named Nebraska's No. 1 handicapped citizens Wednesday. The brothers, who run their own electronic business in Fullerton, were presented the award by Gov. J. James

Exon. Also honored were Dr. Cecil L. Wittson, head of the NU College of Medicine, Physician of 1970; Disbrow and Co. and Nebraska Methodist Hospital, both of Omaha, Employers of 1970; and Cynthia Ann Raasch of Lincoln, high school essay contest winner. (Star Photo.)

Telegrams To Nixon Ask For Clemency

. . . Appeal To Take A Year Or More

Ft. Benning, Ga. (AP) — Lt. William L. Calley Jr. was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor by a military jury Wednesday for the murder of at least 22 Vietnamese men, women and children during the My Lai massacre three years ago.

The Western White House reported President Nixon is receiving thousands of telegrams, running 100 to 1 against the conviction and urging clemency.

Asked if it was in Nixon's power to grant clemency, presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, "That would not be a procedure that would be taken at this time."

Calley's lawyer called the life imprisonment penalty "the lesser of two evils."

Calley also was ordered dismissed from the service, where he had earned awards for gallantry in Vietnam and a Purple Heart for combat wounds. His monthly pay of $773.10 was ordered forfeited.

The sentence carries the possibility of parole after 10 years. An appeal of the sentence is automatic and is expected to take a year or more.

George Latimer, chief defense lawyer, said, "I'm confident the sentence will be abated."

After the sentencing, Calley was taken under guard to the Ft. Benning stockade where he has been held since his conviction Monday.

Calley could have been condemned to death. His conviction had stirred a nationwide furor and letters of encouragement by the armload had arrived during the day addressed to the defendant.

Members of the jury were tight-lipped as they left the courthouse. "It's been a long time," said one, Maj. Carl Bierbaum.

Another juror, Maj. Walter Kinard, said of the deliberations over whether to convict: "We looked for anything that would prove Lt. Calley was innocent. We gave Lt. Calley every benefit of doubt."

Calley left the courthouse for the stockade flanked by military policemen. He saluted a silent crowd of about 150 spectators across the street. One woman in a red slacks suit shouted, "They crucified him!"

Several hours after the sentence had been pronounced, Latimer said he had submitted a written request to Gen. Orwin Talbott, commander of Ft. Benning, that Calley be released from confinement pending review of his sentence.

"The general told me he would give it very careful consideration," Latimer said.

He said he expected a decision from Talbott in the next day or so. But, he said, if his request is denied, Calley will probably be sent to Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

The panel spent about six hours in debate over a span of about 24 hours to assess a life sentence. They needed a majority vote of five to one. A death penalty would have required unanimous agreement.

After hearing the sentence Calley's salute seemed less than snappy and his body appeared to sag somewhat as he did an about-face and headed for the courtroom exit, where military police were waiting for him.

Meanwhile, with the life sentence, the appellate process is automatic, as high as the Court of Military Appeals in Washington. At any stage the sentence may be lessened or erased. And the defense would have recourse to the federal court system after exhausting his remedies within the military system.

Viet Cong Gun Down 196 Civilians In Village

Saigon (UPI) — Military sources disclosed Wednesday that Viet Cong guerrillas stormed into a South Vietnamese village in the early morning darkness Monday killing 100 civilians and wounding 96 more in one of the worst such assaults since the 1968 Tet offensive.

The report came as more than 300 elite South Vietnamese troops airlifted by American helicopters raided a North Vietnamese base area inside Laos Wednesday. It was one week since the end of the massive 45-day South Vietnamese drive to cut the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos.

Military sources identified the destroyed village of Hoang Dieu in Quang Nam province as the target of the communist assault. They said more than 1,000 structures were also destroyed in the raid.

Villagers Scream

The Communists swarmed into the village after a mortar barrage sent men, women and children screaming from their homes, the sources said.

One officer described it as "a completely senseless attack against helpless people."

Regional and popular South Vietnamese troops — the home guard — killed 59 of the attackers in heavy fighting in the village, about 20 miles southwest of the northern city of Da Nang. The South Vietnamese defenders lost 20 killed and 40 wounded.

Mass Slaughter

Besides the mass slaughter of South Vietnamese civilians during the Tet offensive, the worst previous terrorist raid occurred in June 1970, when Viet Cong terrorists killed 74 civilians and wounded 68 others at the village of Thanh My, not far from Hoang Dieu.

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu announced the South Vietnamese attack against the North Vietnamese base in Laos known as 611 along the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

Although Thieu declined to give details, field reports said most of the South Vietnamese troops left in the helicopter fleet from a small base at Mai Loc, 16 miles northwest of Quang Tri.

MOTHER MARY . . .

Ten Who Knew Jesus

Second of a Series

By JOHN J. STEWART

As Jesus hung in agony upon the cross, there stood near the foot of the cross, Mary, His mother, weeping.

All the anguish of helpless despair welled in her bosom as she watched her son slowly die, there on the bleak hill of Calvary. Every feeling of protective motherhood throbbed and wrenched through her frail body.

This was her son hanging upon the cross. Flesh of her flesh, soul of her soul. A man without sin. A man of love and kindness. A holy child. Her child. Dying in excruciating pain, and she could do nothing to help Him, to save Him, to shield Him from this awful hurt.

As she stood in helpless watch and waiting at the foot of the cross through that long day, a thousand memories rushed through Mary's mind. For 33 years, since she was a teen-ager, her whole life had been entwined with that of her firstborn, Jesus.

Ever since that day when the Angel Gabriel had appeared to her, saying, "Hail, thou who art highly favored. The Lord is with thee. Blessed art thou among women." She, Mary, had been chosen to become the Virgin Mother of the Christ Child, the Saviour and Redeemer of the world.

She remembered as though it were but yesterday that precious moment in the manger at Bethlehem. The moment of birth. And the moment when first she held the holy child in her arms and snuggled Him to her breast. Oh, if only now she could hold Him in her arms. Shield Him from pain. Take Him down from the cross and nurse His wounds, and comfort Him.

Mary vividly remembered too that day when the baby Jesus was a few weeks old and she and Joseph had carried Him to the temple here in Jerusalem, to consecrate His life unto the service of God. An old prophet named Simeon had greeted them in the temple and had taken the baby Jesus in his arms and blessed Him and praised God that he had lived to see Him.

It was this Simeon who had spoken the awful words of foreboding to Mary, words that had lived in her mind for 33 years, words which this day were being fulfilled in the horror of crucifixion of her son. Simeon, in looking upon the young Virgin Mother in the temple that day, had warned her that her son would meet dire opposition and that, "a sword shall pierce through their own soul also."

And now He was nailed to a cross, by men of sin. Through tears Mary looked up at Jesus. Her son. Giving His life as an atonement for the sins of mankind. The Lamb of God. Her son.

Institutions Budget Cut By Committee

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Appropriations Committee Thursday recommended a $37.2 million budget for the Department of Public Institutions for the next fiscal year as compared with $38.9 million proposed by Gov. J. James Exon.

The department's general fund appropriation was tabbed at $24 million by committee action. This was $965,000 less than suggested by the governor.

In other budget decisions during Thursday's executive session, the committee accepted Exon's recommended $1,356,629 budget for the State Educational Television Commission.

The commission had requested a $2.9 million budget. The recommended budget will come from state tax dollars except for $15,200 in cash funds.

Also accepted was the governor's recommended $915,000 budget for the Department of Economic Development less an adjustment in funds connected with the transfer of five community planners from the department into the Department of Administrative Services.

In a surprise move, the committee rejected a request of Administrative Services for $50,000 for funding an estimated $100,000 management study of the University of Nebraska.

Exon and NU Chancellor D. B. Varner had proposed the study with one half of its cost to be funded by the University of Nebraska Foundation.

The committee also knocked out the estimated $25,000 budget within the Department of Public Institutions for the Governor's Citizens Committee on Mental Retardation.

Bomb Plot Hearings Are Reset

Preliminary hearings for all nine individuals charged in connection with conspiring to bomb Lincoln buildings including the State Capitol and the Lincoln Police Department helicopter have been set for April 21 according to Lancaster County Court records.

The hearings for five of the individuals were originally set for Wednesday while those for three others were set for Friday. All were continued to the April 21 date on which hearing originally was set for the ninth individual.

Five men and four women were charged with felony offenses of conspiracy in connection with the alleged bomb plan while three of the men and two of the women were also charged with a second felony offense of malicious destruction of property in connection with damage to the Brunswick Corp. property.

Proposal To Ban City Sales Tax Introduced

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

In a bid to recapture the state's exclusive claim on the sales tax base, the Legislature's Revenue Committee Wednesday decided to sponsor a new bill repealing the 1969 authorization for city sales taxes.

The bill would wipe out the 1% city sales tax in Omaha and the one-half percent levy in Lincoln.

Committee action came on a 5-0 vote, with three members absent.

Voting to introduce the bill were Sens. Jules Burbach of Crofton, Rudolf Kokes of Ord, Maurice Kremer of Aurora, Willard Waldo of DeWitt and Jerome Warner of Waverly.

Burbach told newsmen following the committee's executive session that his support for the local option sales tax act two years ago was "the worst mistake I've made in 14 years" in the Legislature.

The state, he said, should have maintained sole claim on the sales tax base once it abandoned the property tax field in 1967 and enacted sales and income tax laws.

Only Lincoln and Omaha have taken advantage of the 1969 authorization to enact city sales levies.

If the cities desire an alternative method of raising revenue, Burbach said, he will be happy to consider their request.

A possible alternative source of city revenue could be an earnings tax, he noted.

Lincoln raised $1,731,261 from its city sales tax in 1970, according to Department of Revenue figures. The 1970 revenue from the Omaha levy totaled $5,726,440 even though a one-half percent rate was in effect for most of the year, state figures showed.

In other action, the committee sent to the floor on a 7-0 vote an amended version of LB1008, which would extend the legislative authorization to issue $10 million in highway bonds for another fiscal year.

Gov. J. James Exon had asked for an extension until Dec. 31, 1975; the committee agreed on a June 30, 1972 deadline.

Another attempt to move the governor's bill to exempt food purchases from the sales tax (LB567) stalled on a 4-4 count.

The committee stripped a proposal to raise the gasoline tax on fuel which uses lead rather than grain alcohol as an additive and substituted a plan to study the issue through a new Agricultural Products Utilization Committee financed by $40,000 in state funds.

The bill, LB776, originally would have boosted the state tax on leaded gasoline by three cents a gallon.

Creation of the study committee was accepted on a 4-3 vote, and the bill was advanced on a 5-1 count.

The committee decided to sponsor a resolution seeking a legislative study of the state's current aircraft fuel tax system.

A pending bill, LB624, would reduce the tax on major users from 2½ cents to one-half cent a gallon.

The proposal is supported by commercial air carriers, but opposed by a host of municipalities which depend on revenue from the tax for state funds for airport improvements.

A motion to kill LB66, hiking the excise taxes on beer and liquor, fell one vote short on a 4-3 score.

Voting to kill were Burbach, Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway and Eugene Mahoney and William Skarda, both of Omaha.

Opposing the motion were Kokes, Waldo and Warner.

200 Protesting Farmers Fail To Get Promise Of Meeting

Ogallala (AP) — About 200 farmers protesting farm prices and Farmers Home Administration policies Wednesday failed to get a commitment from FHA officials for a meeting to air their grievances.

The farmers demonstrated in front of the Keith County Courthouse, blocking traffic with farm vehicles, many of which were bedecked with protest signs.

The National Farm Organization chairman of Nebraska, Bill Sellhorst of Dodge, said he was disappointed by the turnout. He said about 3,000 farmers had been expected.

"Press Did Better"

"Quite frankly," Sellhorst said, "the press did a better job of turning out than the farmers."

Sellhorst spoke to the group Wednesday afternoon, shortly before the demonstration broke up. He said he had spoken to Rep. Dave Martin, R-Nebr., about the 14-point list of demands, including removal of nine FHA officials.

Sellhorst told the farmers, "Martin didn't seem too concerned about you."

The group had demanded a meeting with the Nebraska congressional delegation, and high ranking department of agriculture and FHA officials.

He said State FHA Director Kenneth L. Bowen had failed to return a telephone call after promising to call back to discuss a meeting date.

Sellhorst said he told Martin the farmers "wouldn't settle for anything less" than a meeting with National FHA Director Harold V. Smith.

Governor Represented

The group presented its list of demands to State Democratic Chairman Hess Dyas, who said he would discuss them with Gov. J. Exon Thursday.

Dyas told the group he thought enough discontent had been expressed at the gathering to warrant some response and said state officials should "show some sensitivity," to the grievances.

Sellhorst said low farm prices had been a problem for some 15 years and that Nebraska has been losing about 1,000 farmers year.

Lincoln Is Next

Sellhorst said the next demonstration would be in Lincoln unless the FHA problems were straightened out.

"The next time I drive out here," Sellhorst said, "I hope we have a riot. I don't intend to stand by and watch the farmers go down the drain."

Winds Rip Nebraska As March Roars Out

March roared out like a lion Wednesday, with wind gusts up to 86 m.p.h. reported in western and central Nebraska.

The National Weather Service reported an intense spring storm centered over south central Nebraska and north central Kansas Wednesday evening. A strong cold front associated with the storm produced sharp temperature contrasts across the front.

Valentine dropped from 67 degrees at 11 a.m. Wednesday to 40 degrees at 4 p.m. Kearney reported 85 degrees at 4 p.m., while Chadron recorded 36 degrees.

Stockmen's warnings were issued late Wednesday for eastern Wyoming, northern Colorado, western and northern Nebraska and central and eastern North Dakota and South Dakota.

Strong wind warnings were issued for much of the state Wednesday evening. Broken Bow reported wind gusts of 86 m.p.h. at 6 p.m.

Numerous accidents were reported east of McCook on U.S. 6 and 34 due to the high winds and blowing dust. Visibility was listed as zero on some sections of the highway.

Two members of the Arapahoe Volunteer Fire Dept. received minor injuries when two fire trucks and four other vehicles collided west of Arapahoe during the dust storm.

Arapahoe police chief Wayne Biesecker told The Star that the fire rigs were enroute to a fire when the mishap occurred.

Biesecker said visibility was zero at the time of the accident.

Winds gusting up to 50 m.p.h. caused several power outages in Lincoln late Wednesday evening.

A spokesman for the Lincoln Electric System said power was off for several hours at Lincoln Air Park and in the 27th & Superior area. Both outages were blamed on wind blowing down power lines.

Columbus Considers New Loup Contract

Columbus (UPI) — The Loup Power District has presented the Columbus City Council with a proposed new contract.

The city has three options: —Take no action and continue receiving 2% of gross revenues from power sold within the city limits the rest of this year and 7% thereafter.

—Sign the agreement and begin receiving 5% of the revenues immediately and 10% starting Jan. 1, 1972.

—Take over ownership, operation and maintenance of the electrical distribution within the city Jan. 1, 1972, as permitted by state law and existing agreements.

The current agreement, signed in 1964, is for 25 years and would expire in 1989.

If the city took over the in-city system, it would acquire only the poles, wiring and equipment on the poles. It would not acquire any building, substations, power lines, vehicles, personnel or other equipment.

Loup told the council that the proposed new contract would mean, over the next 15 years, more than $3 million in revenue from the company and another $3 million in discounts and tax funds.

The council indicated it would study the proposal and give an answer later.

Calley Witness Living In Omaha Has No Comment

Omaha (AP) — Thomas W. Turner, 24, a prosecution witness at the trial of Lt. William Calley, declined to comment about the trial.

Turner was a leader in Calley's platoon at the time of the My Lai incident.

He testified at the trial that he saw Calley fatally shoot a young Vietnamese while she was trying to surrender.

Turner is a native of Fairbury and a former student at the University of Nebraska at Omaha. He now works for an Omaha fence company.

Sheriff Prokop Seeks Correction

Wilber — Saline County Sheriff Edward Prokop asked Wednesday that statements attributed to him concerning the intersection of Highways 15 and 41 be corrected.

He said that prior to a fatality accident there March 2, he had not observed cars running the intersection "many times."

Prokop, who has been sheriff for two months, said his understanding is that some people living in the area had seen the sign run several times although this information came to him after the accident.

Probe Of Salem Bank Centers On Directors

By The Associated Press

State Banking Director Henry Ley said Wednesday his investigation of the Bank of Salem in Salem centers around the bank's board of directors.

"The board of directors is illegal because at least half the board must reside in the county in which the bank is located or in an adjoining county," said Ley.

According to Ley, the Salem bank has a three-man board of directors, none of whom reside in Nebraska.

Auditing Books

Ley's department took over the bank last Friday and has been auditing the books since then.

Ley predicted the audit would be completed by Friday but said he had "no idea" when the bank would be reopened.

The investigation centers around the sale of the bank Feb. 6 by John Allee to four Montana residents.

No Contact

Ley said his department, aided by the Montana State Banking Department, has been trying to contact the four but has been unable to reach any of them.

According to Ley, two of the four were on the bank's board of directors while the third spot on the board was taken by the wife of one of the men.

The four are Homer Carter, Bill Gregory, William Van Fleete and Joginder Singh.

Might Buy Back

Ley suggested that Allee might buy the bank back again and said the State Banking Department could approve the action "if he can get substantial people around him."

The investigation doesn't involve funds in the bank, said Ley, and persons with accounts don't have to worry.

Ley explained that the four purchased the bank from Allee with "some cash" and money they lent themselves from the bank.

He would not reveal the amount of the loans to the four.

The State Banking Department has kept the Richardson County attorney's office aware of its actions, said Ley.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

"You are a menace to society, but let us see if there are any areas of agreement that might be worked out between us." That seems to be the essence of remarks made by Russian Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev in an opening statement to the 24th Soviet Party Congress.

The congress of world communist leaders got under way Tuesday and one can fully expect Western experts to carefully examine every word available from the gathering. We suspect that nothing really new will be found.

A noted recent visitor to Russia wrote that the U.S. and the Soviet Union remained adversaries but that war between the two is no longer inevitable. His was a somewhat encouraging note, not shared by a writer for the Christian Science Monitor who previewed the 24th Congress.

The Monitor article did not speak or hint of war between the U.S. and Russia but he did say that "foreign affairs are seen from the angle of a 'sharpening of the class struggle in the international arena'. The theory of 'two opposed, irreconcilable camps' in world affairs has made a comeback.

"Peaceful coexistence" is no longer mentioned. Convergence of the capitalist and socialist systems is taboo. Lenin is invoked against compromises.

"Editorials in Red Star, the Defense Ministry's newspaper, have in recent weeks referred to the 'international mission of Soviet armed forces' . . .

"Once again Moscow seems to raise the claim of Soviet infallibility and world mission . . .

Such is the view of the Soviet Union as it seems to be in the operations of its party hierarchy at this time. The Soviet Union, reportedly, is now in the hands of men more dogmatic than has been the case in the past, more dedicated to ultimate Soviet supremacy even though they may not consider war inevitable.

Thus, Brezhnev may speak of expanded nuclear disarmament pacts and of agreements on a ban against biological warfare but this should not be taken to mean that the Soviet Union has suddenly decided to see everything from a Western point of view.

Even his statements on disarmament and biological warfare are a long way from established fact. The people of this nation should remember that the great chasm that existed in the past between communism and democracy continues to exist today.

The two are systems diametrically opposed to one another, even if it is not inevitable that they one day meet in open conflict. Thus, it is paramount that our nation remain strong, that it maintain an influence in international affairs, that it seek to strengthen its foundation on the domestic scene.

Unfortunately, the future shows no signs of a slackened challenge for the nation. This means that the individual will be called upon time and time again to exercise the responsibility of citizenship that is part of our democracy.

The nation, of course, is not some abstraction without meaning to the individual. It is the everyday reality of lending your support to those principles and programs which seek to further the ends of a better way of life for all mankind.

That is really what the intransigence of the Kremlin means to us. It would be easy to become bogged down in an academic analysis of democracy and communism but the struggle is not one that will be finally determined in this way.

It will be determined, rather, by which system is able to maximize the potential of its citizens. Even a rising hardline approach by the Soviet Union is no cause for fear, but rather, a clear warning of continuing demands to be made upon all of us in the years ahead.

The absence of a shooting war, assuming this can be maintained, is the kind of international framework we should welcome. If what we have in this country is as good as we think it is, the challenge from communism will be effectively met.

Bureau Of Labor Statistics Curb In 'Right To Know'

WASHINGTON—The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics will issue unemployment figures for March 1971 without—under a new administration policy—the customary news briefing on Friday (April 2).

The federal government apparently wants to know more and more while telling less and less. Dossiers on private citizens grow ever-fatter as a result of government surveillance activities. At the same time, news of the recent incursion into Laos was embargoed and even the respected, omniscient Bureau of Labor Statistics stands to be muzzled.

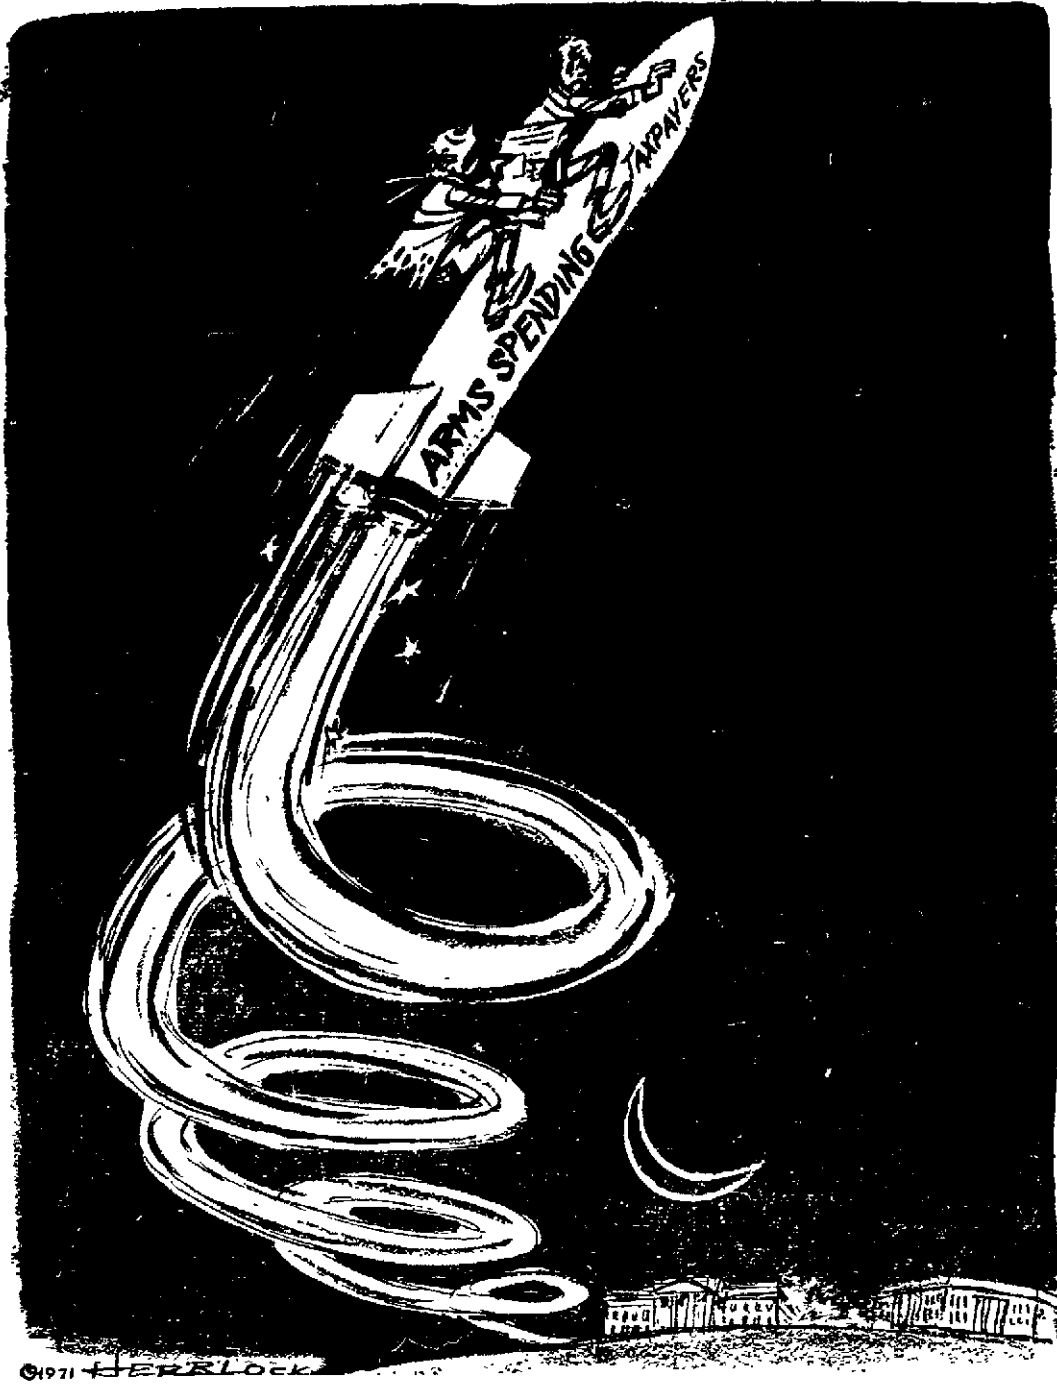

BLS releases statistics on the consumer price index and on unemployment once a month. Bureau specialists have interpreted the raw data for newsmen in briefing sessions for many years, but now these are to be discontinued. From now on businessmen, union officials and other interested parties presumably will have to rely on the Monthly Labor Review, a BLS publication, for word on what the bureau thinks of the current price and job situations.

The decision to discontinue BLS briefings was announced on March 19, the release date of the most recent (February) consumer price index data. The blackout resolved, Murray Seeger reported in the Los Angeles Times, "an embarrassing public relations problem for the Nixon administration."

The problem arose from the fact that BLS interpretations of its statistics often were widely at variance with the administration version. On Feb. 5, for example, Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson told newsmen at the White House

'It Says Here They're Winding Down The War'

On Vote-Trading

School children sitting in the gallery learned a lesson in practical politics Tuesday as the Nebraska Unicameral engaged in a sometimes rancorous debate over the controversial Millard annexation bill.

Sen. George Syas had introduced a motion to kill Sen. Richard Proud's LB868, which requires that a collective vote of Omaha and Millard be taken with a majority of voters favoring the Omaha annexation of Millard before it could take place.

The initial kill attempt was defeated 19-22, with nine of 11 Omaha senators joining the minority of 19 in support of the motion. Only Sen. John Savage joined with fellow Omahan Proud in behalf of the bill.

During debate, Proud had charged that Omaha senators had agreed to vote against a mandatory school redistricting bill if outside lawmakers would help to kill LB868. And after Syas' kill motion was defeated, Education Committee Chairman Don Elrod of Grand Island added, "I'd like to remind the Omaha senators it doesn't pay to try to sell your vote." Elrod was asked to repeat his admonition a little later on and did so.

Omaha Sam Klaver then issued a denial that he was involved in any vote-trading and Omahan Syas arose to deny, too, that he had made any deal.

It was at this point that an assemblage of youngsters observing floor debate heard Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff try to bring things into perspective for colleagues who might have doubts about the legislative process.

"If there wasn't vote-trading, I wouldn't be here because I couldn't get anything done," Carpenter said, asserting that there is a place for give and take.

It is a moot point whether "vote-trading" had anything to do with action on the two bills in question. Sen. Carpenter's observation was a breath of fresh air, however.

The Joke's On You

You may notice this morning a little more expectancy in the attitude around the house. It may be that you have to call the children only once to get up and get going.

Then, when you put on your shoes, one of them contains a large rock. It is beyond your comprehension how the rock got into the shoe but you dump it out and go on your way.

The next part of your routine involves breakfast. Sitting down at the table, you pick up your coffee cup and enjoy your favorite morning beverage. But what is that in the bottom of the cup? A bug? Surely not, as the little woman, even at her worst, is a much better housekeeper than that.

But closer examination tells you that it is, indeed, a big bug in the bottom of your coffee cup, discovered after you have halfway disposed of the contents.

The smile and look of anticipation on a young face, however, soon begin to explain things. Finally realizing what has happened, you consume the rest of the coffee, bug and all.

Then you make an awful fuss as you pick the bug from your mouth. You play it to the hilt because this is April Fools Day and you are the first victim of the day for your third-grader.

It's a fun day for the youngsters and one the adults can enjoy, too, if they have a sense of humor. And if you have no sense of humor, we can only offer you our sympathy because the ability to laugh, especially at yourself, is one of the strongest medicines in the land.

You may find all sorts of strange things today, such as empty billfolds, a "disappearing" spot on the front of your shirt or a razor with no blade in it. With so many slip-on types of footwear, the old untied-choseingstrag gag has just about had it but the youngsters are imaginative enough to come up with plenty of other tricks. More power to them and a happy April Fools Day to all, and that's no joke.

Brezhnev Speech Study In Public Relations; Certain Value In Exploring Some Proposals

NEW YORK — Leonid I. Brezhnev's speech to the 24th Communist party Congress in Moscow is a little like President Nixon's recent State of the World message to the U.S. Congress. It is long, vague, and hopeful — a little something for everybody — but essentially it is an exercise in public relations rather than a practical basis for serious negotiation.

The tone is conciliatory, but the substance is familiar and one-sided. He wants "final recognition" of the territorial changes that took place in Europe after the second world war — that is, general acceptance of the division of Germany and Europe as a permanent condition of the European states.

He wants the annulment of the Warsaw and NATO military alliances and the "dismantling of foreign bases" — that is, he wants the Americans to go home, leaving the Red army as the sole dominant military force on the threshold of Europe.

He wants "the abolition of the remaining colonial regimes" — that is to say the final dismemberment of the old Western empires and the abolition of the old imperialism, but not the dismemberment of the new communist empire or the new communist imperialism.

"We declare that," he said, "while consistently pursuing its policy of peace and friendship among nations, the Soviet Union will continue to conduct a resolute struggle against imperialism, and firmly to rebuff the evil designs and subversions of aggressors."

Translated into the principles of Marxism and Leninism, this means the Soviet Union is following a policy of peace and friendship in Indochina, the Middle East, and Cuba, for example, while the United States is pursuing a policy of aggression, subversion, and imperialism in these places.

Well, "peace and friendship" on this basis, with control in the hands of men who make five-hour speeches, would not be a very cheerful prospect, but Brezhnev's long-delayed pronouncement could have been worse.

He says he wants good relations with the United States, China, Yugoslavia and even West Germany, and his proposals for conferences on nuclear arms and disarmament, for a ban on nuclear, chemical and bacteriological weapons, for a reduction of arms in critical areas of confrontation, for nuclear free zones in sensitive areas of the world and for cooperation to improve the environment of the globe — all this is well worth careful exploration.

It is doubtful that China will respond favorably to Brezhnev's proposal for a conference of the world nuclear powers — and even Washington has some doubts about the wisdom of such a parley in the foreseeable future — but it would be a pity to reject this suggestion out of hand and give Moscow a monopoly on propaganda for nuclear disarmament.

The proposal for limiting arms in critical areas such as Central Europe also raises the possibility of mutual advantage. What Moscow would like — has wanted ever since the end of the last war — is to change the whole balance of power in Europe by persuading a European Conference to invite the United States to withdraw from the continent. This is clearly not desired west of the Elbe River and is not even very interesting to the so-called "neo-isolationists" in the United States, but limited withdrawals from Central Europe by the Red army and the American Expeditionary Forces, and arms reduction in certain other areas are worth discussing, even in an all-European conference, which Washington has consistently regarded with undisguised skepticism.

Before any such conference, however, there is something to be said for the non-communist nations to hold a conference of their own. For the last few years, there has been an ob-

Free-Loaders

Jansen, Neb. Our governor wants to eliminate the waste of tax dollars in our state and the university seems first on the list, long overdue. Second on the list should be the spending for all kinds of trips by people in our state departments and institutions. These trips are made by plane and car with as many as 10 and 15 people staying a week or more.

I am sure they stay in the finest motels and the reason seems to be to see how others are doing things. If they are hired to do a job and don't know how, without running all over the country, then they should spend their own money.

If our governor really wants to save money, he should stop all these expensive trips. Our governor himself should be allowed to go where he sees fit. After all, he is head of the state. But let's stop all the other free-loaders.

Need For Helmets

Lincoln, Neb. This is an open letter to all motorcyclists:

Coming home from work the other night, I came on an accident. A flaming motorcycle and what once had been a young human being. Now all it was was a very crumpled young body lying on the sidewalk.

If that young man had been wearing a good helmet, in my opinion, he would be alive today. He might have had a few broken bones, but he would still be alive.

Our state government has decreed we can't legislate something like requiring helmets, because when an individual is on his own bike, he doesn't affect anyone but himself. I beg to disagree with them. That young man affected for the rest of her life the girl with whom he collided. I'm sure she will see that flying holocaust as long as she lives — and so will I — and so will everyone else on that corner that night.

Motorcycling is great fun (so they tell me). But please, if you enjoy the sport, get a good helmet and wear it at all times on your bike. There is no way a little motorcycle can argue with a car without permanently affecting everyone involved in some way.

There is not a sport in the world that can be enjoyed if you are not alive to participate.

Expected Votes

Blair, Neb. The most formidable Nebraska tandem, Senators Hruska and Curtis, scored another double-take in recent days. The two darlings of special interests came up with the expected "yes" votes to continue the pork-barrel steal of the century, the SST. Fortunately and as usual, they were on the losing side of this vital issue.

They were more fortunate in relieving Nebraska Republicans of the selection of a new state chairman. They scored a beautiful coup in this one by oiling the skids under Mrs. Orr (who did the gallant thing and said she did not choose to run, while hand-picking Mr. Bish of Grand Island to run the show for the next two years, of course under the watchful eye and command of Mr. Curtis.

The Experts

Scotia, Neb. They set up an agriculture department on the federal level to regulate the farmer. The railroads, chambers of commerce and grain trusts even organized what is called the Farm Bureau to make him think he was organized.

When he started getting help was when he started running into trouble. He was letting non-farmers tell him what was best for him. They called it efficiency.

In the last few years, another five million or more of these farmers have left the small farmers and another 2½ million from the small towns. Added together, this about makes the number of unemployed in the cities.

The family farms as we have known them will soon become extinct if the farmers don't organize among themselves and leave the so-called experts out.

Patchwork Prairie Country

The earth has stored her spring pastels but any day now she will shake out her jade gowns and wistfully step into a gay attire. You may see her in a daffodil cloak or lilac sheer with dew-pearled sandals on her feet. If you listen carefully she may be singing an area of leaping waterfalls or night wind through young willow shoots.

The neighbor down the road is waiting for the ground to dry so he can get potatoes planted. Anyone who has ever grown potatoes knows they have to be planted in early spring. Some folks say Saint Patrick's Day is an ideal time but I doubt anyone had the luck of the Irish in getting them in the ground at this date.

We have not planted potatoes for a number of years but there never goes a spring by that I do not think of new, small potatoes and tender, green peas creamed together in a rich white sauce. With crusty, country-fried chicken and a sugary sweet fresh rhubarb pie I cannot think of anything that ever tickled the taste buds more than these.

I have just finished reading Edwin Teale's new book called "Springtime in Britain." He and his wife journeyed up and down the length and breadth of England watching spring gently creep over the land, observing bird and plant life along with visits to old castles and Roman walls and roads.

I stood with them in sheep meadows while the wind swept clean and fresh and strong with the invigorating smell of salt. I walked with them through the heather and highlands of Scotland and saw the stone walls of thatched roof cottages and great sea cliffs.

I heard the waterfalls tumbling down the walls of a cliff into a wide glen where the curlews called and listened to the tide where Caesar came ashore with his Roman legions so many years ago when the Roman empire was at its height of expansion.

But perhaps I was the most surprised of all to learn that within fifteen miles of London, one of the largest cities of the world, there is a sense of tranquility and peace. One seems far removed from the noise and bustle of a metropolis. There are quiet footpaths and acres of forest and meadows preserved by the government for the sole purpose of offering man a place of unspoiled beauty and serenity. For generations the British people have known this solace in their quiet countryside. I wonder if this practice in some measure added to the strength of character of the British people when they stood alone against Hitler in World War II.

No one likes a high wind, especially the kind of wind we had with the last snowstorm but even so, an ill wind does have some merit.

A dead cottonwood tree standing in the back yard, some distance from the house has been rather unsightly all winter with pieces of bark peeling from its trunk and broken branches dangling high in the crown. Alas! When the wind blew, it took the tree down in one easy sweep.

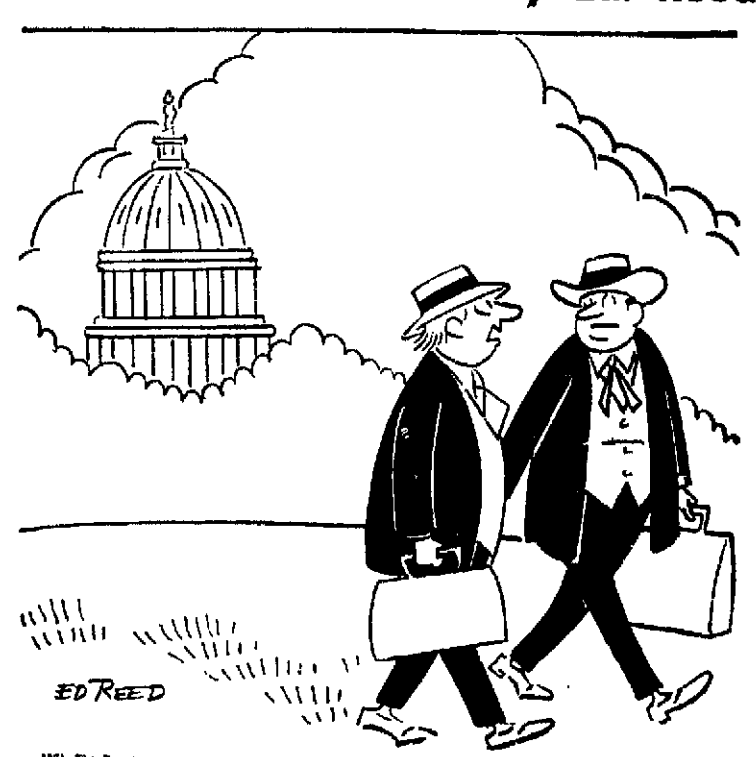

The Farmer had planned to use the tractor to pull it down which always entails much extra labor. Now his work has been made much easier.

Likewise I had noticed all the leaves from the pin oak had dropped recently, leaving a mat of dried leaves on the ground. Raking leaves from around the tree was to have been my first order of business when the weather cleared. However, gust after gust of wind swept every leaf from the ground much as the housewife sweeps her back porch.

They must have been sent flying into the wild blue yonder for I haven't seen a leaf about since the storm. I am not shedding any tears over this episode. My talent does not run to raking leaves.

Detergent Ban OK'd

regular (and I'm sure many others "under-40") reader of your column. I don't always agree with you, but I do respect your opinion.

I'm writing in regard to your column on the cost of living in a Florida community. I couldn't believe it when you wrote that many retired Florida couples manage on only $100 a month for food. I feed my family of three on less than that and we eat well.

I hope you don't think I am presumptuous in suggesting a few helpful hints for retirees to help keep their food budgets down:

One: Buy store brand items. At least try them, for you may be pleasantly surprised that many are as tasty as the more expensive brand names.

Two: Buy cheaper cuts of meat and learn how to cook them. Don't be afraid to try something new. If there's a young housewife in your apartment building, she's probably pinching pennies, too. Ask her if she knows any tasty dishes that are also easy on the pocketbook. You may make a new friend in the bargain.

Three: Readjust your method of cooking. Many recipes that are economical for a large family, are no longer so when cooking for one or two, especially those that call for many ingredients not ordinarily in your cupboard.

Four: Don't buy small sizes of anything! This is one thing I always see older people doing. It may be cheaper at the moment, but in the long run you pay so much more for the small sizes. Buy bigger cuts of meat than you need for one meal. What's wrong with cooking half a chicken and freezing the rest for later in the week? A roast can make several meals, very economically, too. If you want pork chops, buy a loin roast, and if there are leftovers, make sweet-and-sour pork.

Buy bags of frozen vegetables so you can measure the exact amount you need. If you must buy fresh vegetables, buy them in season only.

Five: Check out TV dinners. A steady fare might not appear to you, but the cheaper ones are definitely a bargain. The servings are small but would probably be adequate for many retired people, and the meals are well balanced. Many convenience foods are expensive, but I think there are bargains in the TV dinners.

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

Bicycle accidents cripple and kill far too many Nebraska youngsters each year. The bicycle is the most popular, and one of the fastest, machines by which a person can use his own power to get from one place to another.

Every bicycle rider must be taught to observe certain safety rules just as automobile drivers must obey traffic laws. The rider should observe all traffic regulations applicable to automobile drivers.

Any bicycle used at night should have a white light on the front and a red light or red reflector on the rear. The braking mechanism and other mechanical parts should always be in good working condition.

"Don't make no bull moves, George," said the dying gangster Dutch Schultz in his final delirium. There's a wise thought for today. Don't make no bull moves, mates.

The days are getting longer. Summer on the wing.

The Siamese cat is hunting in the back-yard. The one who left us for more congenial neighbors. Siamese are moody cats. This female was raised in the lap of luxury — chicken livers on demand. Paw-lickin' good chicken livers, Colonel.

She was not a people's cat. Didn't take to being picked up. She hated it. If you tried to touch her, she went off in a huff.

Then one day she took off to live with neighbors. With them she is a little doll. They can't keep her off their laps, she's that affectionate.

A real weird-o.

The police stenographer took down the Dutchman's dying words. He was full of opposition shotgun slugs and was making no sense.

"A boy has never wept nor dashed a thousand kim," he said.

A poetic kind of thing for a dese and dose guy from Hell's Kitchen.

I yelled at the ungrateful Siamese: "Get out of my hard. Go hunt in your own yard."

She just gave me a long, ungrateful stare.

Once I raised a bunch of Siamese kittens. The no hoper of the bunch was Freddy.

He was the kitten always in trouble. He got himself locked in cupboards. He was the one who stepped in the saucer and upset the milk.

He complained constantly — he had a piercing Siamese voice.

Consequently he got more attention. His mama polished him. Comforted him. (The little beggar is probably with a shrink now, explaining how Life With Mother ruined him.)

When time came to give the kittens away, the children wept for Freddy. They wouldn't give him up. Afraid the little stumble bum couldn't take care of himself.

Freddy had it good. And that was just the way he wanted it.

Anyway, we kept Freddy. He got first whack at the hamburger. If it didn't come fast enough, he complained loudly. He was a noisy Siamese.

Everybody worried about him: "What's the matter with poor Freddy?"

The cat had it made. And he made the most of it.

A friend of mine worked for Dutch Schultz during the bootleg days. He was a press agent for a night club. And all New York night clubs were owned by gangsters.

When the Dutchman was shot, a sinister looking character appeared at the press agent's door. He said: "The Dutchman's been hit, the doctor says he needs a transfusion. He needs blood."

The press agent said, "How much blood?"

The gangster looked him over and he said: "I dunno. Like about half a case maybe. Six fifths."

The press agent said: "I took the next train for California. I didn't even bother to pack."

More about "Custom Fitted" hearing aids! According to the best authorities no two hearing losses are exactly alike. So if a hard of hearing person can't hear the flute and wore a hearing aid that made all sounds louder, it would also amplify the drum that he could already hear... everything would be louder, but still "unbalanced" and difficult to understand.

"Custom Fitted" hearing aids can be adjusted to amplify only the flute sound and leave the drum sound at a normal level! Call or write me for free interesting MARCO booklet on "Custom Fitted" hearing aids. Phone 432-1967 — located at 713 Sharp Bldg., Lincoln.

Two Exon Budget Bills Introduced

By The Associated Press
Two appropriations bills reflecting Gov. J. James Exon's budget recommendations were introduced in the Legislature Wednesday as LB1016 and LB1017.

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, as chairman of the Unicameral's Appropriations Committee, delivered the bills for the governor.

LB1016 covers various programs of state aid to governmental subdivisions. LB1017 is the main stem budget bill, providing money for the operation of state government during the fiscal year beginning next July 1. The bills do not cover capital construction appropriations.

Sen. Marvel said it has not been determined whether the budget recommendations of his committee will be in the form of amendments to the governor's bills, or whether the committee will introduce its own substitute bills.

In executive sessions so far, the Appropriations Committee has tentatively cut an estimated $750,000 from the governor's budget recommendations.

LB1017 contains lump sum appropriations for the departments or agencies covered, but also includes, for information purposes, a breakdown of amounts for various programs within the departments or agencies.

Bill To Prevent Annexation Of Millard Dies

Nebraska's Legislature killed Sen. Richard Proud's bill aimed at blocking the annexation of the suburb of Millard by the city of Omaha Wednesday.

The 25-16 vote to kill the measure LB866, came on a motion by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

Carpenter offered the motion his attempt to win first round approval for his bill.

Proud, whose district includes part of western Omaha and Millard, was only able to get 24 of the 25 affirmative votes needed to advance the bill. Twenty lawmakers voted against advancement.

Under the bill, annexation would have been authorized only with the approval of a majority of the combined vote of the electorate of Millard and Omaha.

Senators Break Welfare Spending Limit

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

In a surprise move which broke the welfare spending limits budgeted by Gov. J. James Exon, the Legislature Wednesday enacted into law a $2.2 million appropriation bill to fund increased payments for aid to dependent children.

Having received 33 votes on final reading, the appropriation measure, LB639A, is immune from gubernatorial veto.

The constitution strips the governor of veto power over budget recommendations once they receive at least 33 votes on final reading. Without the 33 votes, the excess appropriations are invalid.

LB639A struggled to enactment on a 33-12 vote.

Final Approval

Moments later, lawmakers handed 44-3 final approval to LB639, which increases the authorized maximum ADC payments. That bill will become law upon the signature of the governor, thus beating a federal compliance deadline by a matter of hours.

The Legislature failed to enact LB639 by Thursday, the federal government had threatened to cut off all federal funding for ADC payments in Nebraska.

Sewage Program Aid OKd

The Legislature Wednesday stamped final 45-0 approval on legislation appropriating $6.6 million to launch a revised program of state aid for the construction of municipal sewage treatment facilities.

The bill, LB1006, together with a companion measure which earlier cleared final reading, will make the state eligible for $13.2 million in federal grants and sharply reduce city costs for secondary waste treatment facilities.

Whereas cities must now pick up 70% of the costs, the new aid program will reduce their share to 20% or 25%.

Enactment of the bill capped the 1971 Legislature's most prolific spending day thus far. Altogether, lawmakers approved on final reading appropriations measures totaling $9 million.

The share of waste treatment costs is now divided 30% federal and 70% municipal.

Increase to 50%

But now that the state is providing 25% of the costs, the federal grant will jump to 50%.

In urban areas which have formal comprehensive planning programs, the federal grant will rise to 55%, cutting the city share of costs to 20%.

Enactment of LB1006 — funding for which was included in Gov. J. James Exon's budget recommendations — will qualify the state for a fiscal 1970 federal grant of $6.6 million and an additional fiscal 1971 grant in the same amount.

Municipalities are working against water pollution control deadlines which come as early as 1972.

Approximately 100 municipalities must undertake major improvements in order to meet federal and state standards at an estimated long-term cost of $83 million.

Cuts Share

Without the new state aid formula, local costs would amount to an estimated $55 million. The new program will cut their share of costs to about $18 million.

Under the terms of LB1006, no single project can receive more than 20% of total available state funds for any year unless there are not pending applications to utilize all state funding.

Other bills enacted on final reading included (E-emergency clause):

- Providing for appointment of members of the Nebraska Retirement Systems Committee. LB602. (E). Holmquist, Whitner, 40-0.
- Various revisions school laws with respect to penalties for violations involving school buses, school reorganization, budgets, and other aspects. LB292. Ziebarth, Kennedy, 45-0.
- Appropriating $202,544 from the state general fund to finance an added exemption program in the homestead exemption program. LB337A. Kime, Epke, 38-3.
- Providing that space needed by the Legislature shall be determined by the Legislature. LB372. (E). Holmquist, 43-0.
- Providing a homestead exemption for unmarried widow of a deceased serviceman. LB337. Kime, Epke, 40-0.
- Repealing a section of 1969 law related to investment of certain funds of minors or incompetents under guardianship. LB382. Carstens, Luedtke, 44-0.
- Repealing assorted sections of law related to municipal retirement systems. LB453. Holmquist, 44-0.
- Increasing fees for licenses to sell real estate in another state. LB393. Carson, 44-0.
- Removing restrictions on disclosure of certain information related to insurance rates. LB597. Savage, Morgan, Snyder, 46-0.
- Clarifying bond requirements for grain warehouses. LB418. Burbach, 46-0.
- Revising provisions for filling vacancies in city and village offices. LB425. Walthey, Witte, 44-0.
- Changing the age of mandatory retirement from 68 to 65 for state employees. LB300. Carpenter, 38-3.

Without the new state aid formula, local costs would amount to an estimated $55 million. The new program will cut their share of costs to about $18 million.

Under the terms of LB1006, no single project can receive more than 20% of total available state funds for any year unless there are not pending applications to utilize all state funding.

The bill increases the maximum payment for a parent and one child from $110 to $124 a month, and the maximum for each additional child from $30 to $44 a month.

LB639A appropriated $2,162,091 in state funds and $688,255 in federal funds to pay the bill for the increased payments through fiscal 1971-72.

Earlier Proposal

Exon had urged enactment of LB639, but he had intended to attempt to keep welfare payments within the limits of his earlier budget recommendations, already endorsed by the Legislature's Appropriations Committee.

If necessary, the governor said, the Department of Public Welfare would prorate needs standards, thus reducing payments to some ADC recipients, in order to stay within his budget.

While the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare insisted on enactment of LB639 by April 1, it did not require enactment of the accompanying appropriation measure, acknowledging the state's authority to prorate needs and thus reduce payments.

The Legislature last week rescinded—at Exon's request—an earlier directive prohibiting the proration of ADC payments, thus apparently giving him a free hand to stay within his budgetary limits.

Blew Lid Off

But Wednesday's surprise action blew the lid off the governor's welfare budget limits.

Enactment of the ADC appropriation was not the sole example of legislative spending beyond the Exon budget.

Also approved on final reading was a $202,544 state appropriation to fund enlarged and increased homestead tax exemptions for elderly veterans and for widows of servicemen killed on active duty.

The appropriation, contained in LB337A and not included in the governor's budget, was enacted on a 38-3 count.

Companion Measure

Yet to reach final reading is the companion proposal, LB337, which would authorize the additional homestead tax exemptions.

LB337 would do two things:

- grant a 90% tax exemption for widows of servicemen killed on active duty.
- increase exemptions for veterans 70 or older, boosting from 35% to 50% their tax exemption on homesteads of $1,500 actual value or less, and hiking from 30% to 45% their tax exemption on the first $4,000 in actual value of homesteads valued at more than $1,500.

Voting against LB337A were Sens. Eugene Mahoney, P. J. Morgan and William Skarda, all of Omaha.

Voting against LB639 were Sens. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, John DeCamp of Neligh and Jerome Warner of Waverly.

Here is the vote on enactment of LB639A:

For: Barnett, Burbach, Carsten, Carstens, Craft, Elrod, Epke, Goodrich, Holmquist, Johnson, Keyes, Kime, Klaver, Luedtke, Mahoney, Maresh, Morgan, Nore, Grime, Proud, Savage, Schmitz, Simpson, Snyder, Stahmer, Stromer, Swanson, Syas, Waldo, Waldron, Warner, Whitney, Ziebarth.

Against: Carpenter, Clark, DeCamp, Hasebrock, Kennedy, Koles, Krenar, Lewis, Marvel, Skarda, Stull, Witte.

Not Voting: Chambers, Duis, Moylan, Walthey.

Bills Won't Necessarily Break Budget

Although the Legislature Wednesday approved two bills increasing state spending some $2.4 million beyond the recommendations of Gov. J. James Exon, the action does not necessarily break the governor's budget limits.

Exon prepared a budget designed to stay within the limits of a 2½% sales tax and a 15% personal income tax rate.

Reductions in the governor's item appropriations presumably could make up the $2.4 million action recommending cuts in some of the Exon proposals.

Furthermore, the governor's budget figures anticipated a $4 million loss in revenue from the exemption of food purchases from the sales tax.

That bill, LB567, is scheduled for debate on the floor of the Legislature next Monday when Sen. William Skarda of Omaha is ready to offer his motion to extract the measure from the Revenue Committee where it is stuck.

Should the Legislature reject that proposal, lawmakers could approve $4 million in spending beyond the Exon budget without disturbing the total figures.

The Legislature earlier approved a bill increasing the food tax credit from $7 to $10 per person, but the governor vetoed that bill. In subsequent action, the Legislature sustained the veto.

If lawmakers reject Exon's exemption proposal by killing LB567, the food tax credit would remain at the $7 per person level.

If the bill is approved, all food purchases would be exempted from the sales tax and the ensuing estimated $4 million in reduced revenue would be in effect.

ACTION LINE

Or Write P.O. Box 81669, Lincoln, NE 68501

Want a question answered? Action on something? Phone or write ACTION LINE, Sunday Journal and Star, giving name, town, daily paper (Star, Journal or Sunday) plus your request. Calls or letters from unidentified persons are not used. A pen name or initial will be used with the town if requested and if the caller or writer also provides his correct name and address.

What are some things the average homebody can do to fight pollution?
—Mrs. Nora T., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: In April 1970, there was an Environmental Teach-In at the University of Colorado which published a list of ordinary, everyday things a person could do.

Among them do not let autos idle unless necessary; don't burn leaves or trash; use handkerchiefs, cloth napkins and towels rather than paper; use returnable bottles, not throwaways; take your own basket shopping to cut down on use of paper bags; reuse paper bags, boxes, plastic bags, envelopes and other containers.

Colored tissue and paper have dyes which pollute streams visually and biologically. request that all public drinking fountains which flow continually be turned off; switch light bulbs not used for reading to lower wattage bulbs; use detergents, toothpaste, shampoos, etc. which have the least detrimental effect upon water; place bricks in the flush tank of every toilet used to reduce amount of water used without decreasing efficiency of toilet.

Some idiot almost scraped my auto this morning because he apparently could not tell which lane was his since there are no divider lines. When is the city going to repair the lines?
—J.F., Lincoln

Not wanting to waste the taxpayers' money, Holsinger says he is waiting for a "real flooding rain" to wash the streets.

Due to high concentration of chemicals used last winter on the streets, Holsinger says if his office repaints the lines and turn arrows now, they would not last more than a few weeks since no adhesive bond would be created.

Not wanting to waste the taxpayers' money, Holsinger says he prefers to wait till the rain cleanses not only the residual chemicals, but all gravel and dirt collected from the winter.

I have made repeated attempts to obtain a copy of the October 1970 issue of "Educational Screen and Audiovisual Guide" magazine for file purposes. I get no response to my inquiries and I fear the publication no longer exists and I was fooled.
—Exasperated, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: The magazine exists. Educational Screen, Inc. in Chicago, Ill. publishes the magazine, but the company circulation department notes they are behind schedule. In fact, work is being done now to complete the October-November issue. The magazine has been printed since 1922.

In October, 1970, I wrote to Martian Moving and Storage in Ventura, Calif. asking them to send our shipment of furniture in storage there. The shipment finally arrived Dec. 3, but there was damage and a missing recliner chair. We submitted a claim promptly and have only received notices saying the claim is being processed, requesting us to be patient. How long does it take to write a $40 claim check?
—Mrs. Edward Schiabe, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Don Titaley, company claim adjuster in Chicago, is now in charge of your account since the person originally assigned to the claim is no longer with the company and this caused a delay.

Your chair was in Ventura, Calif., in the care of a storage agent who was disrupted by an earthquake there. That agent has been repeatedly contacted requesting shipment to you. Titaley followed ACTION LINE's inquiry with a call himself to the California storage company.

If you don't receive both chair and check within a week or two, contact ACTION LINE again. Carriers, by the way, under Interstate Commerce Commission regulations, have 120 days to process a claim. Titaley reminds Why are small towns penalized by having no mail delivered to their homes? Many of our residents are retired persons who would greatly appreciate this service. Residents must rent a Post Office box and the fee is small, but we would like home service.

—Frances Mohr, Chester

ACTION LINE: Chester Postmistress Mrs. Zora Mae Messman agrees it is a bit inequitable, but notes that the town — population just under 500 — is too small to make a city route economically possible.

Your rural mail carrier could deliver mail in town, however, if at least 50% of the residents in the area request home delivery. But there are disadvantages to this: the rural carrier serves rural patrons also, once a day and no deliveries on Sunday and he would need to deliver part of the city's mail before he leaves for the country and the rest when he returns. That way, morning newspapers and other mail you might want early would not arrive till late afternoon.

With the Post Office box, you are free to pick up your mail anytime. Perhaps an arrangement with an enterprising youngster that desires to make some change would be to hire that youngster to pick up the mail for several elder citizens.

Waupun Prison Inmate Files Suit

Madison, Wis. (UPI) — John E. Melberg, an inmate at Waupun State Prison, has filed a federal court suit because his visiting privileges were suspended for 30 days for "excessively hugging, kissing and petting his wife."

Melberg, complaining he was penalized without a hearing, said his wife had moved to Waupun and got a job at a hospital "so we could make use of the visiting hours each day."

Good Relations Wanted

Santiago, Chile (UPI) — President Salvador Allende reiterated the "interest and desire" of his Marxist-oriented government to maintain good relations with the United States.

Haircuts Price Upped

St. Louis, Mo. (UPI) — The impetus to long hair was given another push when St. Louis County barbers voted to raise the price of a haircut 25 cents. They voted to charge $3 for adult haircuts and $2.50 for children's haircuts.

They Have No Delusions Concerning Their Bachelor-To-Benedict Status

By PHYLLIS WOOLLEN AND LINDA OLIG
DRAWINGS BY GAIL HERSTEAD
(Part I of a series.)

Taking that giant step from bachelorhood to the state of wedded bliss may be one of the most devastating experiences in a young man's life.

We were curious to find the male viewpoint toward the marital state, and therefore set out to let the young men speak for themselves.

Participating in our panel discussion were three young men on the verge of matrimony — Dan, Mike, and Jason — and one who is still on the loose—Greg.

Of course, the above names were changed to protect the innocent—or guilty—from their brides-to-be.

Q. Who proposed?

DAN: Well, I did. It was kind of funny. We talked about it for a long time before I ever asked her. She knew it was coming. We have known each other ever since junior high, but we didn't start dating until we were freshmen at the University.

JASON: I did once, then she did once, then . . . Finally, we talked about it and we both agreed.

Q. Have any of you had any part in the wedding plans?

JASON: I have given my opinion—that's just about it.

DAN: Well, yes, I have—kind of. We have talked about what we want to do so far and I've given some of my ideas that I thought might be nice. But it's pretty much her show when you really start thinking about it. She wants it a certain way, so all I can do is make suggestions.

MIKE: Yes, to a point. We have discussed what kind of clothes we will wear and she wants a certain style.

Q. What do you see as your biggest problem as a couple going into marriage?

DAN: Well, when we talked about it—we decided that right now it's so different—you're in love and all that—but when you are married, you have to like the person, too, and you have to live with the person, and that will be a problem. For example, which end do you squeeze the toothpaste from? It is kind of frightening because you live either by yourself or with your parents and you develop all of these little things that they learned to live with, but now you're planning to live with someone else and they will have to live with your nasty little habits.

JASON: Living with someone else's wishes other than our own. I have seen enough marriages where both sets of in-laws and brothers and sisters and so forth actually influence a married couple where they don't want them to act on their own feelings, ideas, or wants, and the couple tries to live someone else's wishes either willingly or unwillingly—even with the ceremony and planning.

GREG: A disadvantage for me would be my wanting to rule the roost, so to speak. I think I could be a martinet at times.

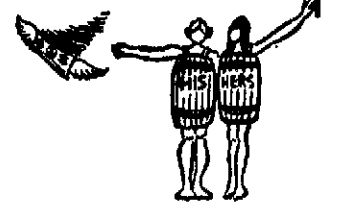

Q. Do you see any problems coming up after your married?

DAN: Mainly money! Especially for us because we will both still be in school. You try to plan as closely as you can, but you never know what's going to happen. There are also a lot of little problems that might grow into big ones—but it's tough to say.

Q. How do you plan to handle the finances?

DAN: She always tells me that I am going to be the one who has to handle it because she's just a total mess at it.

MIKE: I'll have to handle all the finances. I don't think she can comprehend all of it. She has never had to live on a budget before and has lived at home all the time; whereas I have been on my own quite a while.

GREG: Who ever thinks they can do the better job should be in charge of it. I know I can't budget. I'm terrible at handling money and if my wife could do it then I would just as soon hand the check book over to her and have her do the book work—just as long as I could spend what I wanted to for golf and so forth.

JASON: I think the idea is good, but my own personal feeling is that I would just as soon know where it is going and how much is going where.

Q. What kind of advice have you been given from parents, friends, and others?

DAN: Don't!
GREG: Right! Don't — and why aren't you?

MIKE: Everybody kids you not to. Parental advice is more along the financial line — did you consider that you have to pay for this and that?

DAN: More than anything else, I have been advised about money.

JASON: A lot of my friends say don't do it — but it's just another step. Most people get married at least once.

GREG: Most of my friends are happily married.

MISS MARCIA LARSEN

Announcement is made this morning by Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Larsen of Kearney of the engagement of their daughter, Marcia Jean, to Timothy R. Mattson, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Mattson of Fremont.

No wedding date has been named.

Miss Larsen is a sophomore at the University of Nebraska where she is majoring in interior design.

Mr. Mattson is a junior at the University of Nebraska.

BOOKS — "potatoes are cheaper"

BY INDIRA SINGH

Humor often treads a thin line. More so than in other forms of literature humor relies heavily on the concise structure of the language. A joke is not a joke unless it creates an image in the fewest words possible, and then catapults the imagination on to larger concepts. It is a fact that humor typifies the individual, and often laughter is culture orientated.

Imagination is an integral part of the humorist, and it is evident that Max Shulman has his share of the creative hyperbole. Serving as a campus humor columnist for years, and co-authoring a Broadway comedy, "How Now, Dow Jones?" has given him enough experience to write a humorous book with the "now beat." "Potatoes Are Cheaper," is one big complaint. (Portnoy started an onslaught of those.) Our hero Morris Katz not only has a Jewish mother, but also has had a bad case of the blabs since 1936. Then a miracle happens, and he finds Celeste. She has everything — moolah, Jewish and ugly. She also has a father who owns two dozen red-carpeted theaters and a butler. But our friend Morris has a bad habit of plagiarizing poetry, and reading the "Jewish Daily Forward." Mr. Zimmerman as it turns out to be is an avid fan of poet Itzik Fishel, and also believes that the "Forward" is not only Jewish but socialist. Therefore between Morris and happiness lie many problems, like the aforementioned Mamma, Mr. Zimmerman, and of all things love. Our hero falls for a girl named Bridget O'Flynn, and the story takes a turn for the Sunnybrook farm.

"Potatoes Are Cheaper" bases its story line on the absurd, but Max Shulman's humor tends to articulate one long utterance of vulgarity, and therefore loses its literary essence. Anything could be cheaper than potatoes, even happiness or kind words, but Shulman proves that even absurdity is inexpensive these days.

With spring around the corner, and mutterances of far off places, and beginnings and ends, it is demanding on any individual to restrain himself from laughing at anything. Humor is not a readily available commodity these days, and even if "Potatoes Are Cheaper" is a bad joke, it is better than no joke at all.

TOWN TALK

"Clouds and sprinkles for today" the weatherman said. But then, this is April Fool's Day, and it well could be that the prediction was an April Fool joke. At least he didn't mention snow.

Enough about the weather, and on with news of a young lady who is home from college for a brief vacation — She is Miss Penny Greer who arrived last Friday evening from Wellesley College, where she is a freshman, and is spending the current week with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Greer, and her brother Tag.

We understand that many of the away-for-the-winter residents will be turning in the direction of Lincoln — and home — beginning the first week in April — and we'll be happy to announce their arrival — when they are back in town.

We did some talking yesterday about April and the fact that it seemed to be an unusually festive month. Dotting the calendar are numerous parties, and one of these will be an extremely gala affair and it will announce the engagement of a popular young lady.

DAR Group Will Meet

Deborah Avery Chapter of the DAR will have a 12:30 o'clock luncheon at Hotel Radisson-Cornhusker on Friday afternoon, April 2.

The program will include reports of the State DAR Conference, and "Sights and Scenes From the Orient," which will be presented by Mrs. O. E. Kingery, Sr.

There have been few relaxing moments for Miss Sandra Downing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Downing of Seward, since her engagement to Gary Johnson was announced a few weeks ago. Miss Downing, who has an April 17, date for her wedding, has been busy with parties both here in Lincoln, where she is careering, and in her home town of Seward.

One of the recent courtesies for the soon-to-be bride was the miscellaneous shower last Sunday when Miss Sherry Dougherty and Miss Terry Dougherty entertained in the auditorium at the Jones bank in Seward.

Attendants Are Named

Miss Colleen Mulgrue, coed at the University of Nebraska and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mulgrue, has chosen her sister, Miss Patty Mulgrue, and Mrs. John Streeter as her honor attendants for her wedding, which will be an event of Saturday, April 17.

Miss Mulgrue, who will become the bride of Steven H. Nootz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nootz of Meriam, Kan., will have as her bridesmaids her cousins, Miss Mary Ann Shramek and Miss Margaret Lynn Shramek, both of Shawnee, Mission, Kan.; and her fiancé's sister, Miss Mary Nootz of Meriam, Kan. Miss Sarah St. John will be flower girl.

Lighting the candles for the 8 o'clock evening service at Westminster Presbyterian Church will be Miss Julie Nootz of Meriam, Kan., sister of the bridegroom-to-be, and Miss Mulgrue's brother, Daniel Mulgrue.

Michael O'Neal will serve Mr. Nootz as best man, and the groomsmen will include Thomas Mulgrue, brother of the future bride, Kurt Petersen of Omaha, Ed VanVleit, and Scott Newkirk. Seating the guests will be Ray Siemek and Dean Satterthwaite. Craig Brown will be ringbearer.

A "Pretend" Excursion

A safari through the darkest depths of Africa will be one of the 'pretend' excursions at the Workshop on Children's Art to be held on Saturday, April 3.

The workshop, sponsored by the Lincoln Preschool Association, will feature Mrs. Phyllis Westmoreland as lecturer. She will explore the various media used with pre-schoolers, such as crayons, cut paper, clay and finger painting. Mrs. Westmoreland is presently teaching an adult education course in art creativity, and is also a teacher in the Calvert School Saturday art program for children.

The session will begin at 9 o'clock at the Ruth Staples Child Development Laboratory on the East Campus of the University of Nebraska, and will conclude by 3 o'clock.

Anyone interested in art for young children is invited to attend.

Mothers To Meet

Mrs. Burl Johnson will be hostess to the members of the Alpha Omicron Pi Mothers Club at her home, 840 Robert Rd., for a 7:30 o'clock meeting on Thursday evening, April 1.

"I Chose America" will be the topic of the program to be presented by Mrs. Donald Howe.

Mrs. Norman Hubertus is chairman of the committee planning the meeting and is assisted by Mrs. Martin Stohlman and Mrs. Ray Boehmer.

During the month of April the Home Extension Clubs and other interested organizations throughout Lancaster County will be studying "Lady Fair Does Home Repair."

Homemakers will learn how to independently tackle the numerous little odd jobs around the home — fixing squeaking hinges, sticking doors, broken latches, loose tiles, and a variety of other household problems, along with the correct use of the ladder and general safety.

Training for Home Extension Club leaders and others will begin today and any organized group may send leaders to the training sessions.

The schedule includes:

Thursday, April 1, at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon and 7:30 o'clock in the evening at Hill Hatchery, 6000 No. 56th St.

Friday afternoon, April 2, at 1:30 o'clock, at the Bennet Community School.

Monday afternoon, April 5, at 1:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Roland Wendelin of Martell.

Tuesday, April 6 at 9:30 o'clock in the morning and 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, in the conference room of State Farm Insurance, 5901 O St.

trick declarer would know that East had the Q-J-8 and would pick them up by leading trumps from dummy towards the A-K-9.

South was so delighted by East's failure to play a third round of spades that, instead of trying to figure out why East had shifted to a club, he promptly cashed the A-K of trumps to go down one.

This was a psychological error on South's part. He should have reasoned that East was bound to know from the bidding that West could not have the ace of clubs, and that East's shift to that suit at trick three was therefore based on some other motive.

East's reasoning was likewise faulty and he was lucky indeed to find South so bereft of psychological know-how that he was unable to see through East's shallow scheme of defense.

East should have made the simple and reasonable assumption that his partner had the six or nine of trumps, in which case a spade continuation would render declarer's cause absolutely hopeless. This was not a farfetched possibility, since South's bidding would almost surely not have been affected by the presence or absence of either of these cards.

Abby: ignore her

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I recently met a seemingly charming woman, and on parting I casually invited her to come and see me "sometime." I meant for her to come and visit with me for an hour or so.

She telephoned me the very next day and stated that she AND HER HUSBAND would like to come to my home for lunch on Saturday! This shocked me as I certainly did not intend for her to bring her husband. Also, I have been brought up to never invite myself anywhere. I told her that Saturday was not convenient for me, so she has been calling me daily to set up a date.

If she is this nifty at the beginning of a friendship what can I expect if we become better friends? Knowing how presumptuous this woman is, I would rather not get involved with her at all. How can this be handled tactfully?

—SPOKE TOO SOON
DEAR SPOKE: Continue to find each suggested date "inconvenient" and don't feel guilty. She is obviously not as "charming" as you thought she was.

CONFIDENTIAL TO GAINESVILLE, FLA. READER: If everyone swept his own front doorstep, the whole world would be clean. Try it, Lady. I know you have a broom. How else would you get around?

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

NU To Reimburse State For 'Honorariums'

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

University of Nebraska officials have agreed reimbursement will be made to the state general fund for the $5,500 paid as "honorariums" to four University of Nebraska at Omaha employees during fiscal 1969-70, Gov. J. James Exon confirmed Thursday.

The bonuses, paid the employees in addition to regular salaries, were disclosed in an audit of UNO funds by State Auditor Ray A. C. Johnson's office and reported to the governor.

The payments violated the constitutional prohibition against the grant of "any extra compensation" to a public officer or employee "after the services have been rendered," according to the audit report.

According to the audit report, UNO President Kirk Naylor agreed the "services (had) been performed without promise of additional compensation," but the employees were later paid "honorariums."

UNO Football Coach Al Caniglia was paid a $2,000 bonus for assuming the duties of athletic director during the extended illness of athletic Director Virgil Yelkin, according to Naylor, while Carl Meyer received $1,000 for filling in as baseball coach for the ailing Yelkin.

The audit report showed $2,000 was paid to LeRoy Kozeny in the UNO's business office and $500 to James F. M. in wage processing.

Both men, according to information furnished by Naylor, assumed additional duties because of the absence or illness of superiors.

After receiving the auditor's report this week, Exon said he conferred with Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer and later with NU Chancellor D. B. Varner.

"Chancellor Varner has indicated to me that the state will be reimbursed as recommended by the state auditor," the governor said.

Exon said the chancellor indicated the university will make reimbursement from its non-tax

Alcoholism Rehabilitation Program Approved

By MIAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

The board of trustees of Lincoln General Hospital Wednesday gave the green light to development of an alcoholism rehabilitation program which the hospital hopes will be under way by mid-June.

Dave Henry, assistant administrator at General, said the program will include an 18-bed in-patient treatment program as well as an out-patient program.

Eventually, he said, the hospital hopes to expand the in-patient plan to include 32 beds in the north wing of the hospital, which will cease to exist as an extended care facility and nursing care unit as of Wednesday.

Last Patient Gone

Administrator Robert Brungard told the board that the last patient left the former County Convalescent Unit on March 22.

Henry said the treatment program will include a 21-day stay in the facility itself, followed by a two-year out-patient care period.

The in-bed stretch will involve a brief detoxification period, if needed, and then a "re-education and counseling program" aimed at withdrawing the alcoholic from dependence on alcohol.

During the two-year follow-up, patients will go to the unit twice a week, once for a group therapy session and once for an Alcoholics Anonymous meeting.

General's program, Henry said, will be patterned after the program in use at a Minneapolis hospital. Under the multi-disciplinary approach, the program will cut across the traditional lines of doctor-nurse-patient relationships and include supplementary treatment at the hands of psychologists, counselors, social workers and others.

Development Aided

The Johnson Institute, a community agency in Minneapolis which specializes in treatment of alcoholics, will aid General in development of the program.

Henry said the institute will work under a 42-month consulting contract with General. He said a proposal for financing the developmental and consultation phase is being handled through the Lincoln Alcohol Safety Action Project, a pilot project funded through the U.S. Transportation Dept.

The treatment unit itself will be self-sustaining, Henry explained, through patient charges.

After eight months of operation the Minneapolis hospital, which also worked with the Johnson Institute, reported that more than 80% of those who remained active in the program were leading sober lives.

Henry said General's program will be the "only alcoholism treatment facility in a general hospital in the state and probably within several states."

Expansion Discussed

In other matters, Brungard told the board that drawings are being finalized for the expansion into the fifth floor, and he said bid-letting should come sometime in April.

He said the hospital's occupancy rate this year is about 87%.

Henry also said that since only one intern out of a possible six was received in this year's "intern matching" program, the intern will probably be urged to take his internship elsewhere so that he may be in a hospital with other students.

He noted that upcoming changes in graduate medical education are leading to integration of internships among the accredited hospitals in the city.

Under present programs, interns are "matched" with those hospitals which can best provide experience in line with their interests.

Larry Price Recipient Of Service To Mankind Award

Larry Price, president of King's Foodhost Inc., was awarded the 1970 Service to Mankind Award by the Gateway Sertoma Club at the group's meeting Wednesday.

Price was selected for the honor because of his work with young people and his philosophy of motivating them to make the most of their talents, according to a Sertoma spokesman.

Price is a generous supporter of YMCA, YWCA and the American Field Service Project. He has received the Generous Support Award from the latter organization for the past seven years.

He is a member of the board of trustees of Nebraska Wesleyan University and Kearney State College Foundation, director of the Christian Church Foundation; director of northeast and central branches of the YMCA, and chairman of the statewide Easter Seal Camp for Crippled Children.

In 1965 he was the recipient of the Alumni Loyalty Award from Nebraska Wesleyan University

Brunswick Corp. Receives Threat

A bomb threat was received Wednesday afternoon at the Brunswick Corp., 4300 Industrial Ave., by a caller stating that a bomb had been planted at the corporation and would "go off in five minutes."

Lincoln District Fire Chief Wendall Malcom said that police, fire, and the corporation's security guards searched the building, but no bomb was found.

School Negotiators Discuss New LEA Proposal

Lincoln school negotiators, saying they are anxious to reach a settlement on next year's contracts, Wednesday discussed a new proposal from the Lincoln Education Association and then agreed to huddle again Friday afternoon.

At the fourth formal negotiations session, meetings which earlier were accompanied by informal meetings as well, the teachers offered a proposal which would give classroom instructors an overall wage hike of 6.72% next year.

Total cost to the district, on the basis of present staffing, would be an additional $854,000 in teachers' salaries. Added to that figure would be administrators' salaries and fringe benefits.

Limitations Aired
The Lincoln School board has said it will not raise salaries to a level which would require an increase in next year's property tax levy, explaining it would agree to a local tax increase for those items generally over which it has no control — such as increased costs of equipment and utilities or to make up for any lost revenue from other sources.

But the board's negotiators have indicated in the past that they would agree to a settlement which would give teachers an increase "in the area of" the increase in the cost of living.

A figure of 6 to 7% has been the one most often discussed in the negotiations.

The board team's most recent proposal, which the LEA rejected last week, would have provided overall increases in salaries of about 6%.

Total costs for increased teachers' salaries would have been about $769,000, some $85,000 less than the latest LEA request.

Figures Vary
The board's plan would have provided a range for individual increase: of 3.5% to 8.8%. The LEA's proposal Wednesday would provide increases ranging from 4% to 9.5%.

LEA negotiators continued to

Lincoln Junior Youth Orchestra Plans Concert

The Lincoln Junior Youth Orchestra of 120 selected musicians from instrumental classes in grades six through eight in Lincoln Public Schools will present a free public concert at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

The program at Northeast High will be under the direction of John R. Rogers and assistants Mrs. June Moore, Mrs. Sheila Thompson, Mrs. Mary Ellen Oestman and Duane Johnson and climaxes a semester of special Saturday rehearsals.

Included on the programs are compositions of Handel, Boccherini, Tchaikowsky, Mendelssohn and Gliere.

emphasize Wednesday that they are opposed to institution of a separate salary schedule for next year's new employees, a provision which the board's bargainers said would permit the system to begin to move away from the present salary structure.

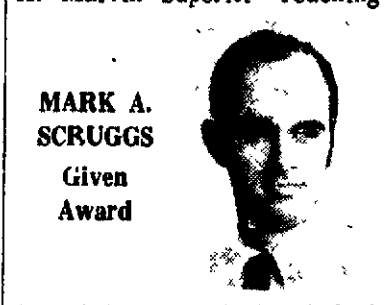

Both sides have previously agreed to study the salary structures with an eye to possible changes away from the practice of providing salary hikes on the basis of years' experience and educational achievement.

Carroll Sawin, the district's personnel director, said Wednesday he questioned the new LEA proposal, noting that LEA Executive Secretary Ely Feistner had agreed last week that both sides were nearing agreement on a total dollar figure.

The board team said it would be ready with a formal response to the teachers' latest proposal at a meeting set for Friday at 4 p.m.

Bus Unit Favors Hiring Manager

The Mayor's Bus Committee Wednesday recommended that the city hire an experienced professional person to manage the bus system, should the operation become a city-owned venture.

In making its recommendation, the advisory board ruled out retaining a management firm to operate the system.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf told the board he agrees with its recommendation.

Schwartzkopf said that he has been told by Department of Transportation officials they do not feel the city is too small for a private management firm to come here to operate the bus system.

The alternative, he said, is to hire a professional to manage the system as a city department.

Schwartzkopf also indicated that the city forwarded its application Tuesday to the federal government for a grant to cover either half or two-thirds of the city's costs to acquire buses and other capital items.

City Finance Director James Mallon said that should the May 4 bond issue pass on the buses, the cost to taxpayers would be approximately 38 cents per $1,000 assessed valuation (which is 35% of actual valuation.) The cost per person per year also figures out to approximately 87 cents for the next ten years. Both figures are based on the city receiving 50% federal funding. A two-thirds federal grant would lower the per person share to approximately 58 cents.

THE GIRLS by Franklin Folger

NEWSPAPER ARCHIVE

By NEIL AMOUR

New York — An article in a British sports weekly earlier this year suggested that Marty Liquori, the Villanova distance runner, was "overrated."

"I don't think he'll realize his potential," Dick Bank, a prominent American in track and field, concluded in a long analysis on the sport's all-time state in the United States. "Liquori is obviously overrated in the United States (some actually believe he is in Ryun's class)..."

Marty Liquori and Jim Ryun have become track and field's conversation piece this spring. Meet promoters are painting in attempts to put the two runners on the same track in the same race — the mile.

One denial of a reported race in El Paso, Tex., on May 22 already has gone out. Officials of the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. International Freedom Games, scheduled for national television May 16 in Philadelphia, are dreaming of "The Great Race" between Ryun, Liquori and Kipchoge Keiro of Kenya, the Olympic 1,500-meter champion. But only Liquori is confirmed.

Liquori and Ryun have not met on a track since June, 1969, when Liquori beat his Kansas rival in successive weeks at the National Collegiate and Amateur Athletic Union outdoor championships. The second defeat sent Ryun into semi-retirement.

In many respects, the two Americans have come to symbolize section 1 ideologies as much as separate personalities. They are as different as Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier or Joe Namath and Fran Tarkenton. Discussions among aficionados produce the same diverse intensity.

"People seem to take sides because we're so different," Liquori said the other day, after a long workout along the Philadelphia Main Line near the Villanova campus. "Jim's got the vision of being a nice guy, sort of the All-American boy, and I'm pictured as the kid on the block who's always getting in trouble."

Ryun was born in Middle America, now resides in Oregon and is the sport's most glamorous name, the world recordholder in the mile, 1,500 and half-mile. He is a shy, sensitive athlete who prefers privacy to public displays and follows the philosophy of most Western runners who believe that the real season in the sport does not begin until the sun shines in the spring.

Liquori, from Cedar Grove, N.J., is the most prominent sub-four-minute miler produced in the East. He is candid, colorful and combative, on and off the track, and relishes the intimacy, atmosphere and tactics of the indoor scene, so integral in Eastern track.

Both athletes were members of the 1968 United States Olympic team, but mentioning Liquori in the same sentence with Ryun two years ago would have been treasonous to track followers.

"Is Marty in Ryun's class?" Jumbo Jim Elliott, Liquori's coach said recently. "I think he is. If anything, I think Marty's underrated. I think he's capable of doing anything he sets his mind to. He has all the confidence in the world."

A 21-year-old senior, Liquori swept the mile and two-mile titles at the NCAA indoor meet last month, a feat accomplished by only one other runner — Ryun. Last week Liquori logged over 100 miles of roadwork, a task, he said, that "would have killed me in my freshman year."

Liquori realizes the intensive buildup that a race with Ryun is drawing within the track fraternity, which thrives on speculation. Could Jesse Owens or John Carlos have beaten Bob Hayes? What would Cornelius Warmerdam have done with a fiberglass pole?

"Everybody seems to be looking forward to our meeting," Liquori said. "But I don't like the way it's coming about. These meet promoters are figuring out schemes to get us together based on where we ran in the past. If we don't run at that particular meet this year, it looks like we're backing off."

This outdoor season will be watched carefully in the United States and abroad. It is the last time that most athletes will run hard until they bid for berths to the 1972 Games next summer in Munich. It will be a particularly significant summer for American athletes, who will be challenged for gold medals as never before by East Germany, the improving African nations and a young crop of impressive Soviet runners.

Barring injuries, Liquori is committed to Munich. Ryun, a two-time Olympian who won a silver medal in 1968 at Mexico City, is married and a father, and may need to evaluate more deeply before embracing such a serious work load.

"Marty's going to get much better," says Elliott, one of the five men nominated for the head coach of the 1972 American team. "Ryun is a wee bit quicker, but Marty can sustain a kick longer than anyone I've ever seen."

Liquori says he feels stronger than ever.

"I used to feel as though I was sleeping my life away, because I needed so much sleep to run well," he said. "Now I can get by on seven or eight hours sleep a night. I don't fear running against Ryun or anyone. I'm ready."

—HOWARD PACES HITTERS—

Culp, Blue Getting Ready For Opening Day Chores

By The Associated Press

Ray Culp and Vida Blue tuned up for opening day with a pair of strong pitching performances and Frank Howard struck a big blow for the hitters in baseball's spring training games Wednesday.

Culp pitched a four-hitter as the Boston Red Sox trimmed Pittsburgh 4-2; Blue struck out nine, leading Oakland over California's B team 6-3 and Howard unloaded two tape measure homers to spearhead Washington's 6-5 victory over Baltimore.

Culp walked only two in going the distance for the first time this spring. The Red Sox nailed the victory by combining half of their 10 hits off right-hander Dock Ellis in the third when they scored three runs.

Blue, whose next start for Oakland will be in baseball's Presidential opener in Washington, gave up five hits in six innings, one of them a bases-empty homer by Mickey Rivers. Chuck Dobson pitched the final three innings for the Athletics, checking the Angels without a hit.

Howard's homers followed walks to Mike Epstein and both cleared a wire 70 feet high and 380 feet from home plate in left center field.

The Chicago White Sox hammered five Detroit pitchers for 14 hits and scored nine runs in the seventh inning in a 17-1 runaway over the Tigers. Rick Reichardt knocked in four runs with two homers in support of Tommy John, who pitched eight shutout innings for the White Sox.

Pete Koegel broke a 1-1 tie with a fourth inning double to highlight a three-run fourth as the Milwaukee Brewers downed the Cleveland Indians, 4-3.

Winning pitcher Juan Pizarro's two-run triple featured a five-run eighth inning, sending the Chicago Cubs to their sixth straight victory with an 8-3 conquest of San Diego.

Greg Garrett stopped Kansas City on three hits in six innings and Woody Woodward drove in Cincinnati's first run with a fourth-inning double to give the Reds a 3-0 triumph.

Jim Bunning choked off Minnesota on one run in seven innings and the Philadelphia Phillies erupted for three runs in the eighth for a 4-1 triumph over the Twins.

In night action, Bill Stoneman and Mike Marshall combined for a five-hitter as Montreal beat the Winnipeg Whips 5-0. St. Louis scored six unearned runs in the sixth to beat the New York Mets 12-2. Cesar Cedeño collected two doubles and a triple, leading Houston over the New York Yankees 9-3 and lefty George Stone pitched Richmond over Atlanta 7-0.

In late West Coast games, Los Angeles met San Francisco and the Tokyo Orions played California.

K-State, Cowboys 'Batter' Pitchers

Stillwater, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma State and Kansas State made shambles of each others pitching staff Tuesday as the teams split a Big Eight Conference doubleheader. Kansas State won the opener, 11-7, but the Cowboys rebounded to win the night cap, 20-2.

Kansas State took the series two games to one after Monday's 15-14 Wildcat victory.

Lincoln Annexation Bill Held

By The Associated Press
A bill said to "avoid conflict that could develop" concerning Lincoln's annexation powers was held for a compromise Wednesday by the Legislature's Urban Affairs Committee.
The measure, LB975, introduced by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, would require that Lincoln must adopt the water and sewer system of a town being annexed within one year of annexation. It further prohibits the annexation of a road or street for more than 300 feet unless it is within or on the boundary of land being annexed.

Lincoln Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf opposed the bill contending it "would hinder Lincoln" in its orderly growth. "Under present law we can annex in an orderly manner."
Ralph Nelson, Lincoln's corporation counsel, said the bill "can do nothing but fragment government."
At the suggestion of committee member Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, the committee voted to advance the bill provided Warner and Lincoln officials could agree on a mutually acceptable amendment.

In another action, the committee heard several versions of a bill proposing a Douglas County civil service system. The committee ended up advancing the bill as originally written with later changes expected to come on the floor.
LB941, introduced by Sens. William Skarda Jr., and Glenn A. Goodrich of Omaha, would establish a seven-member civil service commission to look after the job security of most Douglas county employees.

Nebraska Urged To Meet Unemployment Standards

By United Press International
The Legislature's Labor Committee was told Wednesday unless a bill is enacted bringing Nebraska's unemployment law in compliance with federal standards, federal funds would be cut off.
State AFL-CIO President Richard Nisley of Omaha asked the committee to advance the bill (LB651) which was sponsored by Omaha Sen. George Syas.
The bill would increase the maximum payment which could be made to $56 a week, instead of the present top limit of $48. The bill also calls for several housekeeping changes to equal federal legislation.

The committee, however, adjourned without taking action on the Syas proposal, or other bills before the unit.
Another bill held in committee was a proposal (LB782) sponsored by Callaway Sen. J. James Waldron, which would set a 15% limit on wages that may be assigned to pay debts.
The committee also heard testimony on a bill (LB872) introduced by Omaha Sen. David Stahmer, which would increase the county judges salaries in Douglas and Lancaster Counties to $24,000 a year instead of the current $19,500.

Snowmobile Bill Advances

On a day marked by the warmest weather since the Legislature convened in January, the Unicameral's Public Works Committee sent to the floor Wednesday a bill calling for the licensing and registration of snowmobiles and their operators.
Reported out unanimously was the measure, LB330, sponsored by Sen. John W. DeCamp of Neligh.
At its executive session, the committee also sent to the floor two other previously-heard bills, and killed two others.
Advanced were LB100, transferring certain duties from the state highway commission to the board of public roads classifications and standards, and LB664, clarifying that certain agricultural equipment used to transport and apply fertilizers and chemicals shall not be considered to be motor vehicles.

The committee killed:
—LB922, providing a means for issuing a temporary hardship motor vehicle operator's permit to someone whose driver's license has been suspended.
—LB718, revisions provisions of law for compensation of power district officers and directors.

School Bus Radio Proposal Is Killed

The Legislature refused Wednesday to require that school buses in Nebraska be equipped with two-way radios or mobile telephones.
Killed 24-6 on general file was Milligan Sen. Richard Maresch's LB 325.
Two bills were advanced from general file before lawmakers ended their 55th legislative day:
LB357, increasing from 30 to 45 cents per 100 words the pay to court reporters, for preparing stenographic transcripts, 30-0
LB691, authorizing directions of suburban and rural fire districts to adopt and enforce fire codes 27-0

Bill To Coordinate Public Higher Education Institutions Is Advanced

A bill which would set up a nine-member board to coordinate the budgetary and educational processes in the state's public higher education institutions was sent to the legislative floor Wednesday by the Education Committee.
At the same time, the committee killed a bill which would set up a single governing board of seven state senators to oversee operations at the University of Nebraska and the four state colleges.
The measure sent to the floor is LB866, sponsored by Sen. Wayne Ziebarth of Wilcox while the bill killed was Waverly Sen. Jerome Warner's LB643.
Ziebarth's bill would also have jurisdiction over the state's community college system, according to Education Committee Chairman Sen. Don Elrod of Grand Island.

Therefore, the committee killed Ziebarth's LB950 which would have set up a state board of community college education.
Another bill killed was Omaha Sen. Ernest Chambers' LB961 which would have prohibited school board members from having interests in contracts with their special districts.
No Begging, Please
Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia (P) — Sen. Ibrahim Haji Jacob told Parliament the arms should be lowered on the statue of former Premier Tunku Abdul Rahman outside the state house because it appears to be begging.

Lincoln Chamber Favors Retaining Daylight Savings Time

By BOB SCHREFF
Star Staff Writer
Support for uniform Daylight Savings Time and opposition to the proposed reorganization of the U.S. Department of Agriculture were voiced Wednesday by the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

In resolutions dealing with legislative and governmental affairs the chamber board of directors:

—Reiterated a stand taken in November, 1966, in opposition to the elimination of Daylight Savings Time. This action was taken in connection with a bill pending before the Nebraska Legislature, introduced by Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, proposing the removal of DST in the state.

Chamber Director John Campbell spoke in favor of strengthening the resolution.

"We should do everything in our power to help defeat" any effort to remove Daylight Savings Time and the effect of that action on commerce, he said. A mere reiteration of a previous stand is "pusillanimous," Campbell asserted.

—Approved a Committee on Agriculture recommendation that the chamber board oppose the reorganization of the U.S. Department of Agriculture proposed by President Nixon and the proposed revenue sharing program as it pertains to agriculture.

Upon questioning by Director Dale Tinstman, a committee spokesman said the position is not meant to necessarily apply to the concepts of cabinet reorganization and revenue sharing as they relate to other areas.

—Went on record as opposing LB668, effecting Omaha's annexation of Millard, and LB975, a bill introduced by Waverly Sen. Jerome Warner which would limit Lincoln annexation procedures.

Chamber member Merlyn McLaughlin called for a vigorous chamber effort in promoting a successful vote on the Lincoln bus bond issue which voters will consider May 4.

Other chamber business:

—Jack Hart of the Conventions and Tourism Committee said that a new "well ordered, well organized program" to obtain funds to promote the convention and visitors trade is being worked out that would replace the present "pass-the-lit" method.

The program would be based on voluntary but contracted for contributions of a percentage of gross revenues from the lodging, food, liquor and petroleum industries and possibly other industries which benefit from visitor traffic.

Hopefully, contributions to the chamber convention fund would raise from the present level of $10,000 annually to $50,000, Hart said.

—Charles Bates of Chicago was introduced as the general manager of the new Ace Hardware warehousing operation which will open in Lincoln in October.

—John O'Neill of Lincoln Mutual Life Co. was announced as a new chamber director to replace Harold Osborn, who resigned from the board.

—Ron Harris, Lincoln Jaycee president, reported that following a successful membership drive, Lincoln is now the 12th largest Junior Chamber chapter in the nation, Omaha's is fourth largest, Harris noted.

Roy G. Campbell, Ex-Lincoln Star Employee, Dies

Roy G. Campbell, former reporter for the Lincoln Star, died Wednesday in DeKalb, Ill., where he was a college journalism teacher. He was 45.

Campbell began as Star police reporter in 1961, and was reporting on the legislature when he left in 1967.

He is survived by a wife and two children.

Holdrege School Board, Ed Group Told To Negotiate

The Nebraska Court of Industrial Relations Wednesday set an April 19 deadline for the Holdrege Education Association and the Holdrege Board of Education to work out their differences in negotiations.

If the pair can't work out their differences by that date, the court held, a "full evidentiary hearing" before the court will begin April 23.

The case had been appealed to the court by the education association which contended an impasse exists.

The two parties were ordered to "negotiate with a view to defining, simplifying, and eliminating controversies between them and to arriving at a voluntary settlement of the industrial dispute."

ACE GROUNDBREAKING HELD

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the largest hardware distribution facility west of the Mississippi River were held Wednesday at the Union Pacific Tract Arthur H. Krausman, right, vice president of Ace Hardware Corp., Chicago, said the facility will be completed late this year. Also participating in the ceremonies were Harry P. Seward, left, Chamber of Commerce president, and Gov. J. James Exon. The structure will cover just over 7 acres, being 776 feet by 440 feet with 341,000 square feet of space—equal to 3½ city blocks by 1½ blocks. Olson Construction Co. is building the facility for the David H. Murdock Development Co. which will lease it to Ace Hardware. (Star Photo.)

SNHPC Approves Lincoln General Hospital Expansion

The board of directors of the Southeast Nebraska Health Planning Council Wednesday gave its stamp of approval to a Lincoln Hospital and Health Council recommendation on

Lincoln General Hospital expansion plans. With three dissenting votes, the board "accepted and approved" the report of the Lincoln council, which is formally known as Block Area Planning Council 2 of the southeast organization. The Lincoln council's recommendation endorsed General's expansion plans, but asked a delay of putting any additional beds in operation until Oct. 1, 1972 or until all the city's accredited general hospitals have maintained an 80% occupancy of medical-surgical beds for two consecutive months.

Lincoln General said earlier in the day that it plans to let bids on the expansion into one of the facilities three empty "shell" floors sometime in April.

Council Executive Director Jerry Woolen said the matter "points out the need for regional planning."

"This does have an impact on the rest of the hospitals in outlying counties," he said.

The issue stirred a good deal of disagreement within the Lincoln council before a compromise solution was finally reached in early March, setting a date past which General should not be expected to keep the new beds out of operation.

Those who had supported an indefinite delay had argued that the expansion would endanger efforts by St. Elizabeth Health Center to attract patients. St. E.'s has had what have been rates.

Woolen said the executive committee of the council has appointed a committee to study the review procedure for such projects.

In another matter, the board voted its endorsement of plans for a new Butler County Hospital in David City to replace an outdated facility in use there now.

The new building would have 33 acute care beds and two or three intensive care beds and would cost about $1.3 million. Local financing would be supported by a 15-year bond financed with a 2.25 county mill levy. A vote on the bond issuance will be held in May.

In other matters, the board

ZOO DIRECTORS... Simmons, left, Robert Spencer of the Children's Zoo, and Schroeder, visit at charter dinner.

San Diego Zoo Official Praises Folsom's Work

"We in the San Diego Zoo knew him... he wasn't just a benefactor, he was an opportunist," said the director of the San Diego Zoological Garden Wednesday, describing the "inspiration behind" today's Lincoln Children Zoo, the late Arnott Folsom.

Dr. Charles Schroeder said that whenever Folsom visited the San Diego Zoo, "he asked us what was working and what wasn't. He'd pick off all the things that were successful and dropped us with all the rest."

Speaking to some 250 guests at the charter dinner of the Arnott R. Folsom Zoological Society, Schroeder said he would "much rather" see the zoo open all year as a "kind of audio-visual" education for children.

"Here you have a fine plant that is sitting, aging and depreciating for nine months of every year," Schroeder scolded.

If this was Japan, he said, there would be 50 or more bus loads of children at the gates every day.

Along with education, Schroeder said entertainment and recreation were two main functions of any zoo.

"The way we're going to keep our country together is through the family," he noted. "And there's something for every member in a zoo."

"But our real problem is man," he said. "We're kicking animals off their natural habitats to make room," — killing elephants by the thousands in Africa to clear more land.

"Is man worth the whole thing, anyway?"

Before introducing Dr. Schroeder, Donald Endacott, president of the society's board of directors, presented an honorary lifetime charter membership certificate to Mrs. Arnott (Jane) Folsom and honorary charter memberships to Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf, Dr. Lee Simmons, director of the Henry Doorly Zoo in Omaha and Dr. Schroeder.

Woman Claims She Was Fired Because Of Race

State Equal Opportunity Commission Director Reid Devoe announced Wednesday a hearing will be held April 13 on an employment discrimination complaint filed against the Western Electric Co. Inc. of Omaha.

Devoe said the complaint was filed by Mrs. Lois Stewart of Omaha, who contends she was fired because of her race.

The hearing will be held at the State Labor Department's hearing room, 2565 St. Mary's Avenue. Hearing examiner will be attorney Mrs. B. J. Holcomb Keller.

Mrs. Stewart is seeking reinstatement in the company's terminal strip manufacturing department assembly line, and damages amounting to $94 a week from May 29, 1970, Devoe said.

City Officials Tackle Campaign Sign Problems

City officials Wednesday began enforcing city ordinances which prohibit election signs along the city right-of-way.

Charles Seale, superintendent of building inspections, said crews using street department vehicles toured arterial streets in search of illegal signs.

Seale said numerous complaints have been received about signs in the right-of-way, some obscuring the vision of motorists.

Signs illegally placed were picked up by city employees.

He said the enforcement action came as an order from the mayor, who added to pick up any of his as well as other candidates.

One of Schwartzkopf's reported picked up as were some from the other two mayoral candidates and some City Council candidates.

Seale said he felt many of the signs illegally placed were done so out of ignorance of the city laws by campaign workers.

He said that in the future he plans to provide the election commissioners office with copies of rules and regulations covering election signs to be distributed to candidates when they file.

67,230 Persons Register To Vote

The election commissioner's office said Wednesday that 67,230 persons are registered to vote in the April 6 primary election next Tuesday.

The total is slightly less than the number registered to vote in last year's fall election (67,351) but more than the number registered for the last City Council election (67,210 in 1969).

Persons not yet registered must wait until after the April 6 primary to register for the May 4 general election.

Theta Alpha Phi Hosts Conventions

The Nebraska Wesleyan University chapter of Theta Alpha Phi, national theatre arts honorary, will host the Region Six convention Friday and Saturday in Lincoln.

Registration begins Friday at 6:30 p.m. and the convention will close with a 3 p.m. business meeting Saturday.

Included on the agenda for TAP chapters from five states are workshops and demonstrations in black theatre, Japanese and improvisational theatre.
